Section 1: Confirm your contact details – prevent your super becoming lost

The Australian Taxation Office [ATO] sets strict criteria that determine if an account should be reported as a “lost account” and transferred to the ATO. The criteria includes a lack of up to date contact details. The more details you provide us below, the less likely your account will become “lost”. Providing your Tax File Number [TFN] is not compulsory, but doing so together with your employer details not only helps prevent your account becoming lost, it also ensures you don't pay too much tax and enables us to help ensure your contributions are paid.

Select BOTH options below to minimise the chances of your account becoming “lost”

- Yes – to reduce the chances of becoming uncontactable, I permit Intrust Super to contact me electronically or otherwise, to send me superannuation related messages, confirm my details and inform me of other accounts they find on my behalf.
- Yes – I authorise the use of my Tax File Number for the SuperMatch service to find my lost and other accounts.

Section 2: Get all your super into the one account

If you have superannuation in other funds, you may be paying unnecessary fees and insurance premiums. Furthermore, having multiple accounts increases the chances that one or more of them may become "lost". Prevent unnecessary fees and reduce the chances of your accounts becoming lost by consolidating. Otherwise SKIP this section and go to Section 3.

We will contact all the funds below and request them to transfer your balance across to your Intrust Super account. Please be aware this will impact any insurance or other benefits you are entitled to from those funds, and that the other funds may charge an exit fee.
